What is Self-Direction Series

Transportation

What is Transportation?

An identified support need by the person Self-Directing and/or their representative. Person-centered justification aligns with OPWDD Self-Direction program criteria for eligible reimbursement in the budget. Standard mileage reimbursement rates are determined by the IRS.

What funding options are available in the Self-Direction Budget?

2 Types of Transportation Funding:

- Individual Directed Goods & Services
- Other Than Personal Services

Benefits of IDGS Transportation

Service-related travel reimbursement available in the budget to promote access to community integration opportunities for the person Self-Directing

Examples:

- A self-hired staff driving the person Self-Directing to/from a service-related opportunity
- A person Self-Directing who is driving themselves to/from a service-related opportunity
- A family member driving the person Self-Directing to/from a service-related opportunity

Benefits of OTPS Personal Use Transportation

Personal use travel reimbursement (not service related) available in the budget to promote access to independence and greater community integration opportunities for the person Self-Directing

Examples:

- A person Self-Directing who is driving themselves to/from a personal travel opportunity
- A family member driving the person Self-Directing to/from a personal travel opportunity
